“Moving from In-Fighting to Inclusion”

Craig Clayton, who specializes in providing organizations with executive strategies and business practices that create measurable improvements in employee performance, productivity and profitability, is Director and Diversity Strategist with the International Institute for Diversity and Cross-Cultural Management, University of Houston’s C.T. Bauer College of Business.

Clayton recently launched the Equitable Workplace Institute to train and develop culturally competent leaders. He also founded the Spartacus Group, a Global Diversity & Consulting Firm based in Humble, Texas. His outreach has spanned over a dozen countries including Mexico, Brazil, China, Belgium, The Philippines, Indonesia and Singapore.

Clayton has over 20 years of diverse business experience, having worked with Fortune 500 firms in a variety of capacities, and has been interviewed on radio and television, including a half-hour special on PBS focusing on “Corporate Bullying – The New Sexual Harassment in the Workplace.”

Southern Illinois University encourages persons with disabilities to participate in its programs and activities.
